

Information for “New Member”:

You have been working at your job for 2 years. You came to this country about 10 years ago. You are a widowed single parent with 2 children--one a teenager and the other in elementary school. Your younger child has chronic asthma. You like the job but would like to work the day shift when your children are at school, instead of evenings. The Supervisor seems to hand out the best shifts to his friends. Between taking care of your kids and working at this job, you are exhausted all the time. You've never been in a union and you're not sure what a union does.
